COUNTY HAS 47 1/2 PER CENT CONSERVATION PROGRAM
The county Production and Marketing Committee reports that 47 1/2 percent of the total volume of conservation practices already participating in the Agricultural Conservation Program this year will carry out soil-building practices, most of which involve the use of fertilizer and liming materials to build up the mineral content of the soil.

According to the committee, over 50 per cent of the total volume of conservation practices performed by farmers taking part in the ACP each year supply much needed calcium, magnesium, phosphorus, and potash—all necessary soil minerals and essential to improved fertility.

The committee states that changing mineral-deficient and depleted soils to fertile fields promotes heavier clover sods which contribute to better conservation by saving moisture, eliminating erosion caused by washing, and adding organic matter.

Farmers not already enrolled in the 1951 Agricultural Conservation Program may do so by contacting either the county PMA office at South Paris or the committee nearest them.

NORWAY TAKES 4-5 SQUEAKER FROM BETHEL; HOLFE PANS II

The Norway team put together two hits, a brace of walks, and an A. C. error to counter four runs in the sixth frame to erase a 3-2 Bethel lead at Thurston Field Sunday afternoon. Norway zealously guarded this advantage to win 4-5.

Bethel started the scoring with a pair of tallies in the first without benefit of a hit. Bill Robertson was hit by a pitch, stole second and moved to third on catcher Dougherty's miscue. With Bill perched on third, Larry Sanders walked, stole second and moved to third as pitcher Small wild-pitched the initial tally across the platter. Sanders scored after the catch of Pete Baker's fly to center field. A walk to Joe Kneeland and an error by Montpelier of Norway netted one run in the second inning.

The A. C. made a gallant effort to tie the contest in the last of the eighth when, with one out, Bud Kneeland singled, Merrill popped out to third, Joe Kneeland walked, and Bennett tripled to the fence in center. With two runs in and Bennett camped on third, Dick Rolfe looped a ball to right center that Richards took after a long run.

Dick Rolfe pitched in hard luck, as he gave up only five hits and three walks, but errors at inopportune times prevented him from topping his first decision of the year.

The A. C. plays Bryant Pond at Thurston Field tonight (Thursday) and a return game at Bryant Pond next Tuesday night.

PLAYERS CONCLUDE SEASON

The Bethel Players concluded the current season at a meeting of the board of directors, at which the activities of the season were re-viewed, surplus funds were ap-propriated, and plans for summer ac-tivities and the initial meetings next fall were discussed. Whereas the current season proved to be a fi-nancial success, it was concluded that a larger active membership and increased participation by such a membership in the productions during the succeeding year would be most desirable. Suggestions for inducing and achieving such a re-sult were entertained and decla-ration rested with a plan for an "Old Fashioned Evening" to be sponsor-ed early next fall. Such a gather-ing would be entertained at the out-let by a two act melodrama of the traveling troupe era, at the con-clusion of which an orchestra will be set up for dancing. The price of admission is to be a year's mem-bership in the Players. By this device it is hoped that the town-people will have opportunity to see the first hand results of the Play-ers' activities while finding an en-joyment in the usual sense.

By its constitution the Bethel Players donate all financial gains from its activities to worthwhile activities within the town, and the board at this concluding meeting discussed those requests it had re-ceived for its support, and prob-ed into its annals for activities that is considered meriting repeat do-nations. During its last fiscal year the Players support all existing Scout troops, and it was voted to round out this phase of its program by subscribing an equal sum to the newly formed Cub Scout troop. Also underwritten in whole were the anticipated organizational ex-penses to be incurred in the re-activation of the Brownie Girl Scout troop which the Players previ-ously voted to sponsor. Continued support to the Red Cross summer swimming classes, to be directed towards transporting the children to and from the swim area was voted, together with the cost of replenishing the flowers planted last season in the old watering tub at the junction of Main Street and Route 26.

As previously the Bethel Players will request sole franchise for Coen-cola at the annual Welfare Ba-zaar and help in the fund-raising of the booth, selection of sales personnel, and the procurement of Coen-Cola and the chance picnic basket were drawn up. Also during the summer the initial steps towards producing the "Old Fas-hioned Evening" will be in progress.

In the hopes that publication of a statement of earnings and dis-positions of surplus funds would bring the intent and purpose of the Bethel Players to the citizens of Bethel, thereby calling their sup-port and patronage while earning any monies in the region the following is a condensed statement of activities from January 1, 1951, to date.

THE AMERICAN WAY
Time For Self-Analysis

by Morton
Clausen

Morton Clausen

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Morton Clausen was for many years editor and publisher of the Hamilton (Illinois) Press.)

As we listen to foreign visitors exclaim with wonder at the mar-vels of America, it often occurs to us that possibly we, ourselves, are overlooking something vital about this land of ours. Do we really understand the underlying causes for this greatness so envied by other nations?

Too often when we attempt com-parison between this and other countries we stop at our material superiority, our superb mechaniza-tion, our high standard of living, the vastness and riches of our na-tural resources, and the many "conveniences" which by standards other than ours are high luxuries.

With equal superficiality we en-umerate our virtues: We are am-bitious — want to better ourselves materially and intellectually. We have pride, and that pride has made us keenly competitive — we want to have and accomplish more than our neighbor.

These traits, among others, have made us a creative and inventive people, and each new invention has broadened our vistas and sharpened our sense of adventure. In our lexicon of achievement nothing is impossible. We refuse to accept in-dustrial and collective defeat as an ultimate.

Yet people in other lands are ambitious, have pride, are com-petitive and creative, have a sense of adventure and do not easily ac-cept defeat. These are fundamental human drives and urges subject to neither climate nor geographical location.

Nor does America have a corner on the world's natural resources.

The listed prices are for the cuts that are legally required by OPS. In addition to the posted prices, retailers are required to have separate trays with each tray tagged with its correct price and grade.

New price charts, showing lower ceiling prices, will be effective August 1, and still lower prices will go into effect October 1. After the last reduction, beef will be selling at retail from 8 to 10 cents less, while cattle prices will be about 25 per cent higher than parity.

Official charts of retail beef cutting prices will be listed in meat shops throughout Maine on June 25, said Maine OPS Director Edmund S. Muskie. This date for posting ceiling prices is a week later than previously announced and was finally selected as the date in order to allow for last minute price revisions and distribution.

Housewives can refer to the price charts which must be posted by butchers in a readily visible place, to be sure that they pay no more than the ceiling price for the beef set in this area.

OPS LETTER

Maine's "Feculent" Problems Being Considered

A retail meat advisory committee, meeting in Washington last week, suggested among other things, a change in the beef regulation, the establishment of a dollars-and-cents ceiling on cuts of beef which are local in character in certain areas, and not now included in the OPS list of cuts.

If adjusted, it will relieve Maine retailers of their greatest problem, as they have historically cut beef altogether different than the method now required by the OPS.

Other suggestions by the advisory committee, which also will relieve the pressure here in Maine, ask for a provision to permit pre-cutting of cub steaks, which is not now permitted, and another to permit the pre-grading of ground beef of a better grade than the hamburger now on the regulation.

HEART ASSOCIATION TO GIVE TEACHERS BOOKLET

A new booklet entitled "What the Classroom Teacher Should Know—and Do—About Children with Heart Disease" will be distributed by the Maine Heart Association to educators in the State. Dr. Eugene H. Drake, President, has announced.

Particular stress is placed on rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease, since these occur most frequently among children in kindergarten and in elementary school.

"No one but a physician can diagnose rheumatic fever," Dr. Drake stated, "but the teacher has unique opportunity to help in rheumatic fever control through early detection of danger signals and prompt referral to school health service. The informed teacher will be particularly observant of a child about one week to a month after he has recovered from a 'cold,' or from any known 'strep' infection such as scarlet fever.

"Immediately upon the recognition of a respiratory or other infection the rheumatic child should remain home and receive prompt medical attention. Furthermore, all should be kept from close contact with children with respiratory infections with the rheumatic child. This may involve some measure of physical isolation of the infected children in the classroom—less stress must be placed on perfect attendance records for all children."
